

On August 25 we prayed for our pupils.

On Sunday church service the director of Sunday school Andrey Markov addressed with words from the book of Proverbs 22,6 "Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it".

Then pastors of church made a blessing prayer for the forthcoming academic year. We prayed for all pupils, students, and also teachers. This academic year the teaching structure of our Sunday school replenished with two more teachers. We are grateful for it to the Lord.

Then younger children went to be engaged in hand-made articles in a class of Sunday school.

And next Sunday, September 1, full occupations with Bible studying - the Words God's will begin for them, and also for all children of Sunday school. Let's wish them successes and to be an example not only in Sunday school, but also at comprehensive school for their friends.
